

*This is exactly why
you need CoreGuard.™*

Hurd™
Windows and Doors

Finally, wood windows that are nearly as rot-proof as vinyl, shrug off insects like aluminum, and are warmer than both of them.

If your windows can't survive rainforest testing, they're rotten.

CoreGuard is the best wood protection in the window industry. And only Hurd has it.

CoreGuard actually penetrates through the entire cross section of wood; all the way to the very core of the wood. It contains three active fungicides, an insecticide, plus water repellents to provide envelope protection against pests and rotting. Most importantly, only CoreGuard has a final, proprietary ingredient that goes completely through the wood for the ultimate in protection.

CoreGuard is patent-pending and naturally organic, so it's environmentally friendly. Since CoreGuard repels water, Hurd windows have superior dimensional stability against warping and swelling.

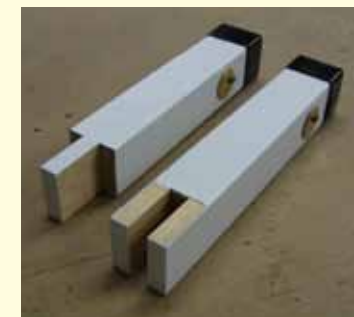

CoreGuard protects against:

- mold*
- mildew*
- fungi*
- rot*
- other water damage*
- termites*
- carpenter ants*
- boring beetles*
- other insect damage*

Hurd aluminum clad wood, all-wood, and Hurd FeelSafe™ windows and patio doors—plus our advanced new H3™ windows—are protected to the core by CoreGuard.

Hurd's CoreGuard treatment is currently being proven in a Hawaiian rainforest. To maximize the potential for water damage, an independent testing organization took sections of our wood windows, broke the finish seal over the joints, then tilted them to trap rain.

After constant exposure to downpours and tropical sun, the equivalent of 12 years installed on your home, our CoreGuard treated wood is beating the elements completely.

The perfect treatment deserves the perfect warranty.

Thanks to the incredible performance of CoreGuard and the superior quality of our products, Hurd offers a Lifetime Limited Warranty for residential use. We're the only company with the confidence to give you lifetime protection on wood windows and patio doors.

This fact alone speaks volumes about the solid durability and long-term dependability of our products. What could be more comforting?

Terms, limitations, and conditions of warranty apply. See the Hurd Lifetime Residential Product Limited Warranty for warranty details.
